Paul Morf has led the firm's wills, trusts, estate planning and probate law group since 2005 and is a founding member and president of the Iowa Academy of Trust and Estate Counsel. Mr. Morf counsels business owners, farmers and high-net-worth individuals on creating customized and comprehensive estate plans that preserve wealth for future generations and ensure that the client's precise wishes are enacted. Mr. Morf creates trusts, limited liability companies, partnerships and other structures and helps clients arrange for charitable giving. He also handles trust and estate litigation, such as will contests or disputes between beneficiaries and fiduciaries.

Mr. Morf graduated from The Yale Law School in 1997. He joined Simmons Perrine Moyer Bergman PLC in 1998 and is a former member of the firm's board of directors. Mr. Morf is a Fellow of the American College of Trust and Estate Counsel (ACTEC).

Mr. Morf has held adjunct professorships at the University of Iowa College of Law, where he taught courses on trusts, estate planning and probate, and at Mount Mercy College, where he taught business law.

Representative Experience:

Mr. Morf works with clients to create comprehensive strategies that meet their unique estate planning needs, such as wills and revocable trusts, credit shelter trusts, contingent estate tax planning, qualified terminal interest property (QTIP) marital trusts, generation-skipping transfer tax exempt trusts, dynasty trusts, incentive trusts, perpetual South Dakota trusts, supplemental needs trusts, 2503(c) trusts, grantor trusts, grantor retained annuity trusts, and qualified personal residence trusts.

Mr. Morf also handles installment sales to grantor trusts, powers of attorney, healthcare powers of attorney, limited liability companies and family limited partnerships, irrevocable life insurance trusts, private split-dollar arrangements, option contracts, installment sales, corporate recapitalizations to separate ownership from control, and business succession planning

Mr. Morf also helps clients plan charitable giving through restricted gifts, charitable lead annuity trusts, charitable remainder trusts, private foundations, universities, supporting organizations, public charities, donor-advised funds and other avenues. He also serves as legal counsel for non-profit entities.

When disputes or probate matters arise, Mr. Morf handles all manners of trust and estate litigation including defending and challenging wills, codicils and revocable trusts. He also handles trust amendments, change of situs in moving from one state to another, change of trustee, and family settlement agreements. His litigation practice also covers buy-sell agreements, oppression of minority shareholders, tax matters and construing a will or trust.

 - Probate, Trust & Estate Planning Section
 - Non-Probate Transfer Committee, Chair, 2007-2008: This committee looks at ways to curb unintended and negative consequences associated with the misuse of POD/TOD beneficiary designations, joint tenancy arrangements, and other non-probate transfers. The committee is studying a “blockbuster” will statute that would allow a testator to integrate such non-probate assets into a comprehensive estate plan
 - Member of the Section's Governing Council, 2006-2012
 - Probate and Trust Code Reconciliation Committee, Chair, 2003-2004: After Iowa adopted a new Trust Code effective in 2001, there was a lot of work to be done to “clean up” the existing probate code and other provisions of Iowa law to clarify the interaction between the Probate Code and the Trust Code, and to repeal law that become obsolete in light of the Trust Code, or which was potentially inconsistent with it. This was successfully completed in 2004, and culminated in a recodification of the Trust Code as Chapter 633A and various other portions of the Trust Code as separate Chapters 633B through 633E
 - Trust Code Committee (ongoing): The Trust Code, which became law in 2001, continues to evolve and be perfected through wisdom gained of experience. This committee proposes changes to the trust code and reviews the proposals of others. It is led by Professor Marty Begleiter of the Drake Law School, who is the principal drafter of the Iowa Trust Code
 - Section Representative to the Disposition of Final Remains Committee, 2006-2007: A committee of persons interested in elder law and surrogate decision making regarding the disposition of final remains was created to consider new legislation that would enhance the ability of an individual to control what happens to his or her body after death. This committee included attorneys and non-attorneys, such as funeral directors and state agency representatives. The committee and the bar association worked together to enact new legislation allowing an individual to name an agent of his or her choice to control disposition of final remains

- Business Law Section, Iowa State Bar Association
 - Non-Profit Corporations Committee: This Committee proposes new law relevant to non-profit governance in Iowa. Two statutes that we recommended that have been passed in recent years are the new Iowa Non-Profit Corporations Act, which governs all non-profit corporations in Iowa, and the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act, which governs the management, investment, and distribution of funds from charitable endowments. The Section is currently looking at an Act that would clarify the status of unincorporated non-profits in Iowa
